Fact Book 1972 / The University of Georgia

THE UNIVERSITY OF GEORGIA

Athens, Georgia 30601

Office of the Provost

November 1, 1972

Dear Colleague:

In 1969 THE UNIVERSITY OF GEORGIA FACT BOOK was developed as a convenient source of accurate information regarding the many facets of our University community. Since that time, it has provided a ready source of basic factual information for use in answering common questions about the University.

This 1972 edition of THE UNIVERSITY OF GEORGIA FACT BOOK is being distributed to each faculty member. We hope that the information which it contains will continue to be helpful to you and will enable you to appreciate the diversity and complexity of your University and will enhance your understanding and pride in its progress. Your comments and suggestions on this publication will be welcome.

Sincerely yours,

Fact Book 1972 The University of Georgia

Edited by Michael B. Bunch

Office of Institutional Research and Planning

PREFACE

The 1972 Fact Book was compiled and edited in an effort to present to the faculty and administration a concise and objective source of information about the University of Georgia for the year 1971-72. The amount of detail on any one topic is necessarily limited by the scope of this publication but we feel that its purpose; i. e., that of a handy reference, has been well served. The few changes in this year's edition are part of a continuing effort to make the Fact Book more useful.

Various offices throughout the University cooperated with the editor in compiling the information contained herein. Their efforts greatly facilitated the job of editing, and for their cooperation I am indeed grateful.

The Fact Book is a service to the University by the Office of Institutional Research and Planning. Corrections, criticisms, and suggestions are welcomed and should be sent to the editor at the Office of Institutional Research and Planning.

Michael B. Bunch

University and Community Service

All members of the Mental Health Division were assigned consultative functions with residence halls. Mental Health psychiatrists and psychologists also met either individually or as a group with the Judicial Affairs Committee, Student Government Association, Probation Department, campus ministers, and faculty.

Physical Health physicians continued to lecture and lead discussions in the Pharmacy School's Department of Pharmacology and conduct first-aid and cardiopulmonary resuscitation training in the School of Forestry. The Division participated in the Cooperative Stroke-Hypertension study with the Medical College of Georgia. A presentation on hospital management of hypertensive emergencies was a part of the in-service training program at Athens General and St. Mary's Hospitals. Health Services also cooperated with the Georgia Heart Association and the Georgia Regional Medical Program in a blood pressure screening program involving local junior and senior high school students.

University Health Services cooperated with the local hospitals, Civil Defense, Red Cross, and the Athens Police and Fire Departments on the Joint Disaster Preparedness Committee of the Crawford W. Long Medical Society. The U. S. Department of Public Health was aided by University Health Services in the identification and treatment of asymptomatic female carriers of gonorrhea. One physician served as advisor to a local Explorer Scout unit of high school students interested in medical careers, and another supervised the Family Planning Clinic of the Clarke County Public Health Department.

The role of University Health Service nurses has come to include educational and support activities as well as service. The nursing staff was involved in classes for gynecology patients and discussion sessions on sexual responsibility. In response to the needs of students, a satellite clinic was established in the Graduate Studies Research Building.

The Department of Student Activities/Union provides a variety of programs for students, faculty, administrators, and the Athens community. There is a regular schedule of social, cultural, recreational, and intellectual programs including the following:

Entertainment

Entertainment Division presents dances and jam sessions throughout the year featuring some of the area's finest talent as well as top national acts. Musical offerings satisfy a wide range of tastes with such attractions as Bill Monroe and the Bluegrass Boys, Vince Vance and the Valliants, and Jesus Christ Superstar. Regular features of the Entertainment Division are Coffeehouse and Gimme Shelter.

Cinematic Arts

The Cinematic Arts Division presents a weekly movie series in the South P-J Auditorium with prices ranging from 50¢ to $1.50. Some of the year's top features were M*A*S*H* and 2001: A Space Odyssey.

Ideas and Issues

Ideas and Issues presents some of the nation's most provocative and enlightening speakers. Included in the year's schedule were Sen. Wayne Morse, Norman Mailer, Hal Suit, and Dr. Paul Erlich.

Recreation Division

Recreation Division each year sponsors competition in several sports as well as exhibitions. Tournament Week included competition in billiards, snooker, table tennis, chess, and bowling. The Division also sponsored Road Rally and a bike race.

The Atlanta Symphony played to a capacity crowd as did the Broadway plays "Company" and "Promises, Promises." Bread, Seals & Crofts, the New York Rock Ensemble, the Romeros, Isaac Hayes, and the Canadian Opera Company also drew very large audiences.

Special Events

In addition to the seemingly endless array of activities provided for the benefit of students and others, the Union also sponsors many special events each year. The Bridal Fair and the International Gift Bazaar are among the most notable.

Museum

THE GEORGIA MUSEUM OF ART

The Georgia Museum of Art was founded in 1945 by Alfred H. Holbrook, a retired New York attorney. The Museum's first works of art were donated by Mr. Holbrook in honor of his late wife. The Eva Underhill Holbrook Memorial Collection of American Art consisted of one hundred works by one hundred artists representing one hundred years of art. The collection has experienced enormous growth through the generosity of Mr. Holbrook and now accounts for the major portion of the Museum's nearly three thousand works of art.

The Permanent Collection

The permanent collection (the Holbrook Collection) consists of paintings, prints, drawings, pottery, and assorted memorabilia of the period from 1850 to 1945. It is primarily composed of American works but also includes fourteen European paintings from the S. H. Kress Foundation.

Exhibitions

The Museum annually presents 15 to 20 exhibitions, not only from the permanent collection but also from the Athens Art Association, graduate students, and outside sources including the American Federation of Arts, the Museum of Modern Art in New York and the International Exhibitions Foundation. In 1971-72 loans of 881 objects were secured from 82 institutions and lenders. The following were included in the year's exhibits:

La Belle Epoque from the L. Wittamer DeCamp Collection

Portraits After Anthony van Dyck from the permanent collection

Dürer and His Times

Photographs by Alfred Eisenstaedt accompanied by a lecture by Alfred Eisenstaedt

Rediscovered Printmakers of the 19th Century

Master Printmakers from the Cooper-Hewitt Museum of Decorative Arts and Design, Smithsonian Institution

19th and 20th Century Paintings from the Collection of the Smith College Museum of Art from the American Federation of Arts

Edward Lear in Greece

20th Century Portraits from the Museum of Modern Art, New York

The Racetrack World: Paintings by Lee Townsend

Services

The Georgia Museum of Art is dedicated to the concept of instructional service not only to the University but to the community as well. Extensive files are maintained on each object for the benefit of students. The Museum cooperates with various departments in scheduling exhibits of common interest. During the year the Museum presented Dürer and His Times in cooperation with the Dept. of Germanic and Slavic Languages; Edward Lear in Greece with the Classics Dept.; and Photographs by Alfred Eisenstaedt in conjunction with the School of Journalism.

Who May Use

The Museum is virtually a public facility. During 1971-72 approximately 20,000 visitors filed through its doors. Classes from kindergartens, Head Start programs, elementary schools, high schools, and colleges throughout the state were enriched by visits to the Museum. Tours were scheduled not only by art classes but classes in history, classics, home economics, sociology, environmental design, languages, journalism, and architecture as well.

Friends of the Museum

Friends of the Museum was recently established to stimulate the use of exhibitions and a greater interest in art and the Museum. INSTRUCTIONAL RESOURCES CENTER

The Instructional Resources Center was created in the Fall of 1969 as a part of the Office of the Vice President for Instruction. It became a separately budgeted unit the following year. The Center was established to assist colleges, schools, departments and individual faculty members in the utilization of modern media in instruction.

This assistance takes several forms. The preparation of charts, graphs, overhead projectuals, artwork for slides, and visuals for television is the responsibility of the graphics department. The photographic department prepares slides, photographs, and duplicates slides.

The IRC has recently added to its services the duplication of audio tapes, both the reel-to-reel type and cassettes. The IRC equipment pool has continued to grow and now contains several types of recorders, slide projectors, 16 mm projectors and 8 mm projectors. This equipment is delivered and an operator provided for users in the General Classroom Building. It is available for loan campus-wide if the user will pick up and return the equipment.

Closed-circuit television production is also a part of the resources available in the IRC. The IRC is able to produce in either black and white or color in a variety of formats. In addition to studio productions the IRC has available a small portable camera and video tape recorder. The new 3/4" videocassette format is now available for duplication, production, and playback.

The IRC Film and Tape Library is a collection of films, video tapes, and audio tapes which are reserved for on-campus instructional use. The collection which has grown from less than thirty in 1969 now numbers more than 252 titles in 16 mm film, 6 titles in 8 mm, more than 215 titles in audio tapes, and more than 70 slide sets.

The IRC provides to the University community consultation concerning the utilization and/or purchase of equipment for visual presentations.

The services of the IRC are generally without charge to instructional users. However, projects with extensive production or requiring special materials may require supplemental funding from other sources. Services to non-instructional University functions will be provided on a cost basis as materials and equipment are available.

The IRC employs three full-time persons, one joint-staffed person, and three graduate students. Additional student assistants are hired as they are needed and as funds are available. This staff has produced more than 175 television productions for classroom use, 15 instructional films, and more than 45,000 slides.

OFFICE OF COMPUTER ACTIVITIES

The Office of Computer Activities has four divisions, Institutional Data Processing, Computational, Information Services, and Research, which are responsible for all computer operations at the University. A total staff of approximately 175 have been assigned to this office.

Hardware

The processing units presently in operation are an IBM 360 model 65, an IBM 360 model 30, a CDC 6400, an IBM 7094, two IBM 1401's, and an IBM 1130. To these processors are attached a variety of peripheral devices including tape drives, disks, drums, data cells, and about 50 remote terminals. A CALCOMP plotter model 900/1136 is presently in operation at the Center.

Software

The scientific languages FORTRAN and ALGOL, the business language COBOL, and the general purpose language PL/1 are all in use on at least one machine. An assembler language is available for every machine. In addition, a conversational language is in use for remote terminals, and a simplified mathematical language is used on the AMTRAN console.

Services

The Computational Division has a User Services Department that functions as the information desk for the Division. User Services assumes production responsibility for standard programs and provides indirect assistance in the areas of programming and control languages.

Other services are also available through the Information Services Division. The Computer Software Management and Information Center (COSMIC) Department disseminates programs originally developed by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA), the Atomic Energy Commission (AEC) and the Department of Defense (DoD). The Georgia Information Dissemination Center (GIDC) Department provides scientific researchers with references to current and past literature in their particular fields of interest. At the present time, this Department provides services on nineteen data bases covering a broad spectrum of disciplines.

PUBLIC SAFETY DIVISION

Objectives

- (1) To provide response to the problems of life safety and property safety in the urban-like complex which the some 27,000 persons living, learning, researching, teaching, and visiting on campus daily represent;
- (2) To provide such response in an exemplary manner so as to provide "teaching by example" on the part of the University for communities faced with similar problems of life safety, property safety, and related civic problems of environmental concern;
- (3) To provide such response by members of the academic community--students--carefully selected and professionally trained in the process, who upon leaving the University can provide knowledge and stimulation for improvement in the areas of law enforcement and environmental concerns of benefit to the communities in which they take up residence as citizens;
- (4) To insure that all concerned are aware that the campus is not a sanctuary for law violators who would jeopardize the social as well as educational life of the academic community.

Structure

Headed by the Director of Public Safety, the staff consists of an Assistant Director who also serves as Chief of Police, University of Georgia Police Department; a Manager, Safety Services Department; and Manager, Traffic Safety Department.

Functions

UGA Police Department - Responsible for providing full peace officer authority on the properties of the University. Forty-seven sworn police officers, including a Captain in charge of patrol operations and a Captain of detectives in charge of investigative operations. During 1971-72, 1,109 criminal complaints were handled. Of these complaints, 287 were cleared. Arrests totaled 107. The Department has an unusually high stolen property recovery rate of 37.4% of the $88,000 worth of property reported stolen. All officers are required to be academically involved in undergraduate or graduate studies. Approximately 51.2% of all sworn officers are graduate students. Professional law enforcement training averaged 172 hours per officer for the year, probably the highest average of any law enforcement agency in the state.

Safety Services Department - Responsible for professional specialized attention to Radiation Safety, Laboratory Safety, Accident Prevention Control, Fire Prevention, and Environmental Safety Programs. Charged with enforcement of Georgia Fire Safety Code and conducting inspections relative to Georgia Public Health Laws and Regulations as they apply to Food Services, Dairy and Pasteurization Plants, Rodent and Pest Control, Swimming Pools, Air Samples,

Community Services

UGA Police Department is responsible for conducting Northeast Georgia Police Training Academy, providing basic recruit training to state, municipal, and county law enforcement officers in the northeast Georgia area. Officers of the Department are also involved in lecturing in academic areas such as Political Science, History, Sociology, Physical Education, etc. on law enforcement problems.

The Safety Services Department conducts numerous training classes relating to safety--Radiation and Laboratory Safety for faculty and students. UNIVERSITY PRESS

The University of Georgia Press was organized in the summer of 1938 with the stated purpose of "publishing scholarly books and monographs." Its primary function is to publish the results of research and scholarship for the benefit of scholars and students and to publish readable and authentic interpretations of such material for the educated layman. The Press also publishes works which interpret and preserve the history and culture of the state and region. Included among its publications are books on various university disciplines: agriculture, anthropology, archaeology, economics, education, fine arts, history, journalism, language and literature, law philosophy, political science, science, and sociology.

Through its publishing program the Press carries the work of scholars beyond their campuses to the specialist and to the public at home and abroad, putting to use the results of scholarship, research, and creative thought.

The imprint of the Press is controlled by a 12-member Faculty Editorial Board. In addition to the Director, the staff is composed of eleven full- and five part-time employees.

Offices are in Waddel Hall; book storage and shipping in the basement of Old College; warehousing on South Campus.
