

THE UNIVERSITY OF GEORGIA
Athens, Georgia

Office of the Provost

November 9, 1973

Dear Colleague:

FACT BOOK 1973 presents a record of quality growth, and provides a ready source of information concerning the diverse aspects of the University. It is an achievement of which you have been a part, and of which you may be justly proud. A great university is highly complex. It serves many needs; has many functions; develops many relationships, both internally and externally. FACT BOOK 1973 not only indicates such complexity, but also tells us much about it in a concrete manner.

FACT BOOK 1973 is for your use and information. If there is any way in which you feel it may be improved, please send me your comments and suggestions.

Sincerely yours,

S. W. Pelletier, Provost

The University of Georgia Fact Book 1973

Edited by Frank R. Harrison, III

FACT BOOK 1973 has been compiled and edited in order to bring you an updated view of the University of Georgia. Hopefully, it will also provide you with a ready and convenient source of information concerning the University. In fulfilling these functions FACT BOOK 1973 tells a story of dynamic growth and energy at the University of Georgia.

If space were to permit, it would be a happy task to list all of the people who helped make FACT BOOK 1973 possible. Special mention and thanks, however, must go to the following: Irene Dodd who did the original cover drawing especially for FACT BOOK 1973, Vincent Dieball who did the lettering and much of the layout, and my "right-hand man", John Piacentini who did a great deal of everything else.

All of us who have had a hand in FACT BOOK 1973 hope and trust you will find it useful and revealing, and not merely a dust collector on your shelves.

Frank R. Harrison, III
editor, FACT BOOK 1973

University and Community Service

All members of the Mental Health Division were assigned consultative functions with residence halls. Mental Health psychiatrists and psychologists also met either individually or as a group with the campus police, Campus Ministry Association, and Student Judicial Affairs. In addition, two staff members spoke to the faculty advisors throughout campus in order to familiarize them with our function. One psychiatrist met with a group from the Psychology Clinic on a regular basis to provide consultation for their patients. Several videotaped programs were produced by two individuals on the staff. These programs were presented before such groups as psychologists, family and children counselors, and nurses.

Physical Health physicians continued to lecture and lead discussions in the Pharmacy School's Department of Pharmacology and conduct first-aid and cardiopulmonary resuscitation in the School of Forestry. The cardiopulmonary resuscitation training was expanded to include classes throughout campus to the faculty and students. The Division participated in the Cooperative Stroke-Hypertension study with the Medical College of Georgia. A presentation on hospital management of hypertensive emergencies was a part of the in-service training program at Athens General and St. Mary's Hospitals. Health Services also cooperated with the Georgia Heart Association and the Georgia Regional Medical Program in a blood pressure screening program involving local junior and senior high school students.

The University Health Service cooperated with the local hospitals, Civil Defense, Red Cross, and the Athens Police and Fire Departments on the Joint Disaster Preparedness Committee of the Crawford W. Long Medical Society. The U. S. Department of Public Health was aided by the Health Service in the identification and treatment of asymptomatic female carriers of gonorrhoea. One physician served as advisor to a local Explorer Scout unit of high school students interested in medical careers, and another supervised the Family Planning Clinic of the Clarke County Public Health Department. Still another served on the Board of Directors of the Athens Model Neighborhood Center and is active in the blood pressure screening program and clinic at Athens General.

The role of University Health Service nurses has come to include educational and support activities as well as service. The nursing staff was involved in classes for gynecology patients and discussion sessions on sexual responsibility. The nurses conducted a special informative session related to Woman's Health and clinics designed to meet the health needs of women.

THE GEORGIA MUSEUM OF ART

The Georgia Museum of Art was founded in 1945 by Alfred H. Holbrook, a retired New York attorney. The Museum's first works of art were donated by Mr. Holbrook in honor of his late wife. The Eva Underhill Holbrook Memorial Collection of American Art consisted of one hundred works by one hundred artists representing one hundred years of art. The collection has experienced enormous growth through the generosity of Mr. Holbrook and now accounts for the major portion of the Museum's nearly three thousand works of art.

The Permanent Collection

The permanent collection (the Holbrook Collection) consists of paintings, prints, drawings, pottery, and assorted memorabilia of the period from 1850 to 1945. It is primarily composed of American works but also includes fourteen European paintings from the S. H. Kress Foundation. In 1972-73, 241 objects were acquired by the Museum from 25 donors. Included in this number is a rare collection of 19th century prints L'Estampe Originale which was given by the University of Georgia Foundation. Sixteen sheets in the collection Carceri d' Invenzione by Piranesi are equally rare. Acquisitions made during the past year would fill the available museum exhibition space two times. For the first time since 1948, the insured value of gifts and purchases is greater than the original estimated value of the initial gift which marked the establishment of the museum.

Exhibitions

The Museum annually presents 15 to 20 exhibitions, not only from the permanent collection but also from the Athens Art Association, graduate students, and outside sources including the American Federation of Arts, the Museum of Modern Art in New York and the International Exhibitions Foundation. In 1972-73, 28 exhibitions were shown in the Museum. Loans of 929 objects were secured from other institutions for this program. The following were included in the year's exhibits:

Drawings by New York Artists Selected by Dore Ashton

A Retrospective Exhibition, Photography by Margaret Bourke-White

Jacob Epstein: Sculpture, Watercolors, and Drawings

The Realist Revival

Geometric Abstractions of the 1930's

Services

The Georgia Museum of Art is dedicated to the concept of instructional service not only to the University but to the community as well. Extensive files are maintained on each object for the benefit of students. The Museum cooperates with various departments in scheduling exhibits of common interest.

Who May Use

The Museum is virtually a public facility. During 1971-72 approximately 20,000 visitors filed through its doors. Classes from kindergartens, Head Start programs, elementary schools, high schools, and colleges throughout the state were enriched by visits to the Museum. Tours were scheduled not only by art classes but classes in history, classics, home economics, sociology, environmental design, languages, journalism, and architecture as well.

Friends of the Museum

Friends of the Museum was recently established to stimulate the use of exhibitions and a greater interest in art and the Museum. In the future the group hopes to extend the services of the Museum through lectures, children's programs, and other special events. Membership is open to all who share its interests and goals. Under the auspices of the group a Docent's volunteer service was established. Approximately thirty volunteers conducted tours for nearly 2,000 children who visited the Museum under this program.

GEORGIA REVIEW

The Georgia Review is a university quarterly, founded in 1947 by John Donald Wade. Its concerns are those valued by the university community at large, which included the ever growing number of university graduates. By discriminating the more permanent from the more ephemeral values, the Review appeals both to specialists and to intelligent general readers everywhere.

It publishes essays, fiction, poetry, and book reviews on many subjects in a variety of styles and tones. It draws from a wide range of interests, including literature, history, philosophy, architecture, ideas, and the musical and visual arts. The editors maintain strict professional standards in the Review; yet its pages are open to new writers no less than established authors.

Four to five thousand manuscripts come in annually, about ten percent from Georgia. Exclusive of book reviews, most of which are commissioned, 77 were accepted in 1972-73, about 16 percent from Georgia. Most of the contributors have affiliation with colleges and universities. Average circulation is 1800 copies per issue, with some 600 in the state, and the rest distributed throughout the other states (New York and California leading) and 26 foreign countries.

Issues may be bought or subscriptions entered in the business and editorial offices in Lustrat House on north campus.

THE INSTITUTE FOR BEHAVIORAL RESEARCH

The Institute for Behavioral Research is a multidisciplinary research organization. Its purpose is to encourage a pooling of the expertise of staff members and graduate students from such departments as Sociology, Psychology, Political Science, Geography, Economics, and Educational Psychology in behalf of an attack upon significant social and behavioral problems.

Staff

The staff currently consists of a two-thirds time Director, fourteen professors (typically one-third time), four secretaries, and three programmers. The Institute also provides housing and/or research experience for some twenty graduate assistants.

Facilities

Physically, I.B.R. is housed in the new and spacious Graduate Studies Research Center with ready access to the University of Georgia Computer Center, a technical library, small group behavior laboratories, and related facilities.

INSTRUCTIONAL RESOURCES CENTER

The Instructional Resources Center was created in the Fall of 1969 as a part of the Office of the Vice President for Instruction. It became a separately budgeted unit the following year. The Center was established to assist colleges, schools, departments and individual faculty members in the utilization of modern media in instruction.

This assistance takes several forms. The preparation of charts, graphs, overhead projectuals, artwork for slides, and visuals for television is the responsibility of the graphics department. The photographic department prepares slides, photographs, and duplicates slides.

The IRC also duplicates audio tapes, both the reel-to-reel type and cassettes. The IRC equipment pool has continued to grow and now contains several types of recorders, slide projectors, 16mm projectors and 8mm projectors. This equipment is delivered and an operator provided for users in the General Classroom Building. It is available for loan campus-wide if the user will pick up and return the equipment.

Closed-circuit television production is also a part of the resources available in the IRC. The IRC is able to produce in either black and white or color in a variety of formats. In addition to studio productions the IRC has available a small portable camera and video tape recorder. The new 3/4" videocassette format is now available for duplication, production, and playback.

The IRC has recently added a speech compressor, and a Super 8 telecine projector. The speech compressor can be used to compress speech up to two times the original rate. The Super 8 telecine projector can convert Super 8 movies to any television format.

The IRC Film and Tape Library is a collection of films, video tapes, and audio tapes which are reserved for on-campus instructional use. The collection which has grown from less than thirty in 1969 now numbers more than 415 titles in 16mm film, 25 titles in 8mm, more than 285 titles in audio tapes, and more than 87 slide sets.

The IRC provides to the University community consultation concerning the utilization and/or purchase of equipment for visual presentations.

The services of the IRC are generally without charge to instructional users. However, projects with extensive production or requiring special materials may require supplemental funding from other sources. Services to non-instructional University functions will be provided on a cost basis as materials and equipment are available.

The IRC employs four full-time persons, one joint-staffed person, and three graduate students. Additional student assistants are hired as they are needed and as funds are available. This staff has produced more than 275 television productions for classroom use, 23 instructional films, and more than 61,000 slides.

To these processors are attached a variety of peripheral devices including tape drives, disks, drums, data cells, and about 50 remote terminals. A CALCOMP plotter model 900/1136 is presently in operation at the Center.

PUBLIC SAFETY DIVISION

Objectives

- (1) To provide response to the problems of life safety and property safety in the urban-like complex which the some 30,000 persons living, learning, researching, teaching, and visiting on campus daily represent;
- (2) To provide such response in an exemplary manner so as to provide "teaching by example" on the part of the University for communities faced with similar problems of life safety, property safety, and related civic problems of environmental concern;
- (3) To provide such response by members of the academic community--students--carefully selected and professionally trained in the process, who upon leaving the University can provide knowledge and stimulation for improvement in the areas of law enforcement and environmental concerns of benefit to the communities in which they take up residence as citizens;
- (4) To insure that all concerned are aware that the campus is not a sanctuary for law violators who would jeopardize the social as well as educational life of the academic community.

Structure

Headed by the Director of Public Safety, the staff consists of an Assistant Director who also serves as Chief of Police, University of Georgia Police Department; a Manager, Safety Services Department; and Manager, Traffic Safety Department.

Functions

THE UNIVERSITY OF GEORGIA BOTANICAL GARDEN

The University of Georgia Botanical Garden began physically in 1968 with the assignment to its use by the University of approximately 293 acres of land between the Whitehall Road and the Middle Oconee River. This land is particularly suited to the purpose because of its varied topography and microclimates, and the wealth of the natural vegetation of the area. Over 125 species of woody plants have been identified, plus many more herbaceous annuals and perennials.

At its present stage of development the Garden is primarily a natural arboretum with specimens of the existing plants labelled along several miles of nature trails.

Services

At present the Botanical Garden serves the University as an outdoor laboratory for regular and special classes of plant oriented disciplines in the University. It is also an outdoor laboratory for certain types of research. Several research projects have been completed and others are underway.

To use the Garden area for teaching or research, permission must be obtained from the Director. The kind of research and instructional activities permitted in the Garden are determined under guidelines decided on by the Botanical Garden Board of Control.

Service to the public is provided in the nature trails with labelled plants for self-instruction. Occasional guided tours of special groups are provided as time and personnel permit.

Location

The present and temporary entrance to the trails is on the Whitehall Road eight-tenths of a mile south of Davis Cafeteria at junction of U.S. Highway 441 and the Whitehall Road. A small parking lot is at the end of a gravel road one-tenth of a mile off the Whitehall Road. The trails are for walking only. Wheeled vehicles, horses, etc. are not permitted. Trail signs guide the visitor. At present the trails are open all the time.

The Future

The permanent entrance road has been completed except for hard surfacing and landscaping. It is also on the Whitehall Road two-tenths of a mile south of the present temporary entrance. Entrance to the Garden area in vehicles is by permit only at this time.

Cont'd.: THE UNIVERSITY OF GEORGIA BOTANICAL GARDEN

A headquarters building to include laboratories, conference rooms, and office space has been funded by the Callaway Foundation and is presently being designed. It is expected to let bids for this building in the winter of 1973-74.

Friends of the Garden

The Friends of the University of Georgia Botanical Garden is an incorporated, non-profit, tax exempt group organized in 1972 for the sole purpose of supporting the development of the UGA botanical garden. Membership is open to all who are interested in this facility and its purposes and goals. Members are kept informed of the development and activities of the Garden through a newsletter issued at intervals.

UNIVERSITY OF GEORGIA PRESS

The University of Georgia Press was organized in the summer of 1938 with the stated purpose of "publishing scholarly books and monographs." Its primary function is to publish the results of research and scholarship for the benefit of scholars and students and to publish readable and authentic interpretations of such material for the educated layman. The Press also publishes works which interpret and preserve the history and culture of the state and region. Included among its publications are books on various university disciplines: agriculture, anthropology, archaeology, economics, education, fine arts, history, journalism, language and literature, law, philosophy, political science, science and sociology.

Through its publishing program the Press carries the work of scholars beyond their campuses to the specialist and to the public at home and abroad, putting to use the results of scholarship, research, and creative thought.

The Press is expanding its list of books. During the past ten years it has published 175 titles which have been distributed to libraries, bookstore, teachers, students, and interested laymen throughout the United States and foreign countries.

The imprint of the Press is controlled by a 12-member Faculty Editorial Board. In addition to the Director, the staff is composed of eleven full- and five part-time employees.

Offices are in Waddel Hall; book storage and shipping in the basement of Old College; warehousing on South Campus.
